A LIFE OF ORDER?

Over the past 3 weeks we have been studying the character of being Orderly. What a blessing it is to live (as far as possible) lives of order.

Yes we know things often do not go according to plan, but we can have our lives basically in order with a strong foundation and then we can cope with the things that are disorganized.

We have been hearing some lovely stories of students being helpful around the home, offering assistance in many areas of home life, as well as tidying up their own living area - their bedroom.

Psalm 119 has a lot to do with Order - we are encouraged to put our lives in order with God at the centre, to guide us and to give us strong foundations on which to build our lives.

May we know God's order and purpose in each of our lives as we seek to do what brings glory and honour to Him each day.

PLEASE PRAY THIS WEEK for the SHOWELL-ROCHE TAOFINUU
THORPE and TOLLEY Families.

STUDENTS AND UNIFORMS

There have been several recent times where students have come to school not dressed fully, such as ties and bows not done, so we want to take this opportunity to remind students to be fully dressed before they leave home.

Also items such as ties and bows seem to be waylaid too easily for some students. Can we ask students to be more orderly at home and to keep their items of uniform together so they do not get lost or misplaced so easily please.

We do not have a big supply of spare items to give to students for the day they do not bring a tie or bow - we will be issuing new items and charging them to the family accounts.

Items do go missing at school from time to time and it would help so much to have the student's name attached or written on each item. It is so much easier to return missing items if names are written on the clothing.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR TERM END

There are a number of overdue work requirements from students and these are expected to be submitted by tomorrow.

If these outstanding (overdue) work requirements are not submitted by tomorrow, the reports will indicate that work requirements were Not Completed - No Pass.

Next Friday 22nd June is the last testing day. After this date, reports will be finalised for the term in readiness for reporting to parents by the end of term.
